Dear Sir / Madam,

Re: Recommendation Letter for Marcus Beveridge and Queen City Law

My dealings with Marcus Beveridge and the Queen City Law firm came from a glowing recommendation on their ability to achieve favourable outcomes for most immigration cases they work on. Meeting with Marcus gave me the confidence he knew whether or not a case was worth pursuing. Having now used his services and currently holding a Resident Visa, I have been reassured far beyond the initial recommendation.

The Law Clerk that was assigned to our case was absolutely brilliant, a testament to Marcus' skilful eye for employing talented individuals. This was echoed throughout the firm as we interacted with more of Queen City Law staff.

Marcus has a wealth of knowledge and an incredible network of people and relationships that have been carved out over his many years in the local industry.

I myself work at a senior level in one of New Zealand's largest corporations and even though Queen City Law is a boutique law firm it provides extremely client-centric and professional legal services in a manner as efficient as any of NZ's larger law firms and with a more personal and friendly touch.

I cannot recommend Marcus and Queen City Law enough. Their advice, strategy and perseverance are outstanding and they are always willing to go above and beyond the call of duty to achieve a favourable outcome for their clients. I am quite certain that if I hadn't used their services I would not have been holding a Residence Permit within such a short timeframe.

Although I originally hail from South Africa and was saddened that my rugby team did not go further in the recent Rugby World Cup I was extremely pleased to see the All Black's win. Queen City Law are tenacious like the AB's and operate in a very well managed and respectful team environment.

Regards,
Trevor
